

Marketing that ages well.

Profit per piece, not views per piece. Two curves — pick the one you're optimising for.

Mehr Patni Boring beats viral when it compounds.

The residue test.

One question before you ship — in six months, what residue does this leave?

↑ M O V E D

Viral fluff

remembered, not moved

vanity, no lift

Compounding

remembered + moved

the gold standard

Forgettable

neither + neither

most ad creative

Direct response

moved, then forgotten

no compounding moat

M E M O R A B L E →

Mehr Patni If the answer is "forgettable" — kill it before it's published.

The attention stack.

Voice first. Story next. Tactics last. Most teams invert this — and wonder why the work doesn't compound.

Mehr Patni Voice eats first. Tactics are the garnish.

When everyone has AI.

The edge moves to what AI can't carry. Use the machine for production, hold the taste yourself.

Mehr Patni When everyone has the same machine — the taste behind it is the brand.

Brands trust brands. People trust people.

The founder voice premium. In 2026, the fastest moat is conviction.

Mehr Patni Audiences trust people more than logos. Stage the founder accordingly.