Stratos

Marketing Manager

2025 — PRESENT

Marketing for an early-stage edtech building rigour into the way students prepare for everything that matters — translating product depth into language a parent and a teenager both trust.

THE BRIEF

What I walked into.

A serious product in a category drowning in hype. The mandate: position Stratos as the calm, credible choice without slipping into corporate flatness or test-prep cliché.

WHAT I DID

The shape of the work.

Wrote the positioning thesis and the editorial voice guide that everything else draws from.

Designed a parent–student dual-funnel content strategy across newsletter, social, and on-platform.

Built the launch campaign for the flagship cohort — long-form essay + capsule onboarding + a tight community thread.

Set up activation and retention measurement so the team argues with data, not opinions.

R E C E I P T S

What it earned.

Sign-ups in the first launch window

Activation lift after voice rewrite

Newsletter open rate, sustained

Your first campaign goes here.

Send the reel (drag to ~/Downloads + tell me) or paste the Instagram carousel URL, plus a one-sentence purpose and 2–4 outcome numbers. I'll wire it in and regenerate the PDF.

WHAT I'D DO DIFFERENTLY

The next time.

Build the parent's surface before the student's. The decision-maker reads first; the user follows. Treating them as one audience flattened both messages in the early weeks.
